

COMMANDER'S REPORT

As Commander I have nothing to report on since our AGM.

Starting in to a second term as Commander I look back on a satisfactory year and look forward to an even better year. I welcome two new officers on board who have expressed a keen willingness to participate and I welcome back those who agreed to stay on for another year. I look forward to their guidance in our endeavours as we embark on this new year.

Canadian Power & Sail Squadrons seem to be seeking to set a new course in the 21st century that will meet the needs and desires of the boating public. In this quest one could think their compass is in need of being swung. The advent of the PCOC and the requirement for Transport Canada approval of the related course materials has resulted in the demise of the well held Boating course and from those ashes arose the course Boating Essentials. Without critiquing that course here there is now a move afoot to divide that course into two parts. Otherwise CPS would seem to heading for electronic on-line courses. In conversation with others of our executive and training team and with members of the VIND executive I can conclude that our best option is to simply carry on teaching safe boating and providing the knowledge that will enable our students to attain their necessary certificates and stay safe on the water.

I look forward to the executive developing our program of courses and activities this year and, as well, having some fun doing it.

Webmasters Report

May 14, 2014

We have had a meeting to examine the web site and set ourselves some tasks. We have completed our work on the photos of the historians albums, which cover the story of the Squadron from its founding in 1996 to 2008. We created 207 new pages for the web site to make it all work, and modified 208 photos to make it all fit. You can examine the results by selecting Photo Galleries on the home page menu (not any other page menus so far) and then selecting Albums.

We have also added Don Butt's Squadron Memories video to the web site. Again, see Photo Galleries on the home page.

With each change of the guard there are quite a few minor modifications to be made and that has been done. Similarly, the Course information has been updated. Finally, we have posted some photos of the most recent events.

Respectfully submitted,

Bob Derksen and Bill Kalbfleisch, webmasters

Communications, Privacy, Scuttlebutt Ed.
Report to Bridge May 13, 2014

Scuttlebutt was published slightly ahead of time, immediately after the AGM. The archives digitization is now completed and the images forwarded for posting.

I would like to feature in the next edition, Sept-Oct, lots of events of the Squadron over the summer. Maybe a beach cleanup, fireworks cruise to Vancouver, a presence for Safe Boating Week, Lil' Gabe at the Concert-on-the-Green to name a few. I plan to be at as many events as possible, camera at the ready.

I would like to feature a brief bio of new Bridge members.

Being proactive, the Communications Committee will need some priorities and should meet some time soon in order to plan for attracting people for fall courses.

Nothing in Privacy.
